To whom it may concern,

My name is Annabelle Argeles and I am currently a student at Florida State University. I am pursuing two degrees - one in Editing, Writing, and Media with a minor in communications - the other in Business, either Management or Accounting. After I graduate, I plan to work in the publishing industry. My goal is to set up a life in London, where there are world-renowned publishing houses, like Bloomsbury Publishing.

While there are many different jobs in a publishing house, I am most passionate regarding the production aspect, while having an interest in the editorial and/or the design aspects as well. At university, I was the editor in chief for an issue of the Italianoles publication in Florence Italy. In high school, I was also the editor in chief of the yearbook. Through both of these positions, I have learned to review and revise staff's writing, manage the entire publication process, and communicate effectively to create a successful publication. Additionally, the coursework required through my major will lead to an extensive knowledge of both editing and creating literature that will prove vital in the industry.

I hope to have the opportunity to work with Bloomsbury Publishing and share my literary passion with the collective. Thank you in advance for your consideration and I look forward to receiving your correspondence.

Kind regards,

Annabelle Argeles
